TO HELP FARMERS.

Will Furnish Money with Which to Buy Feed.

Knowing that it will be a severe loss to the farmers if corn had to be sold at a low price, the First National Bank of this city has announced its willingness to furnish the necessary money with which to ship it in.

No. 1 Prairie grass, Timothy and alfalfa can be procured at reasonable prices, and the First National has made arrangements to have it shipped in, without the necessity of paying large profits to anyone.

Any farmer who has stock he wishes to keep will be given consideration, whether a regular customer of the bank or not.

It is often said of the First National Bank that it is "the bank that does things for you," and this is only another evidence of the truth of that statement.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Nash entertained a large party of friends at the Pavilion on Monday evening and a very pleasant evening was the result. Refreshments were served and the evening was spent in dancing to the strains of the Bliss orchestra.

Charles S. Whittlesby of Fargo, N. D., arrived in the city on Friday to remain over Sunday visiting with his relatives here. Mrs. Whittlesby expects to remain here for several weeks yet.

Carl Mertz and family of Buffalo, N. Y., arrived in the city Monday. The former is a nephew of Mrs. Wm. Kernan of Milwaukee street. It is their intention to make this city their future home.

Mrs. L. M. Schlatterer left on Monday for Neeshah where she will visit for a few days after which she expects to leave for Colorado, Neb., where she will spend several weeks.

John Anderson of Merrill visited at the H. Hanson home on 3rd street, while on his way home from Milwaukee where he attended the National Ice tongs convention.

Fred Hill who sold his farm in the town of Sigel last week, has purchased the J. T. Sherman home on 9th street South. Consideration $1500.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Read of Neeshah spent several days in the city the past week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kellogg.

Mrs. John Hildebrand and children departed on Saturday for an extended visit with relatives in Juneau and Hartford.

Clara Johnson of Sigel left for the Aurora Hospital at Chicago this morning where she will consult a specialist.

TWO SOO BRAKEMEN GET INTO TROUBLE.

Charles Canfield and C.E. Beeman, brakemen on the Soo line, were brought to this city by Sheriff Griffin on Saturday on a charge of highway robbery. They had a hearing before Justice Panninville that evening and when it was all over there was a fine and costs amounting to $75.00 to which they were put up by a friend.

The men were arrested on complaint of Wm. Nash, who claimed that while his son Vincent and George Gaylor were stealing a ride on the Soo line on the previous Wednesday, the boys had been approached by the two brakemen, one of whom pushed a revolver into the face of the boys and demanded their money. The boys landed over ten cents, and told them that this was all they had. When Mr. Nash heard their story upon their arrival home he swore out a warrant for the two men. Sheriff Griffin went after them and found them at Pond du Lac, and they were taken to Marshfield and subsequently brought to this city, the district attorney accompanying them here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kellogg entertained a party of friends at the pavilion on Thursday evening and a large number responded to the invitations sent out. The evening was a most delightful one and the pavilion presented a very pleasing appearance. The Bliss orchestra of ten pieces furnished music for the occasion, and refreshments were served, making a time long to be remembered by those in attendance.

Mrs. M. G. Gordon returned on Thursday from a three weeks visit with relatives at Tomah. Mrs. Gordon was accompanied home by her mother, Mrs. Griswold, and daughter Vera, who will visit at the Gordon home for several weeks.

Ex County Treasurer Phillip Bean and wife are moving to their farm in the town of Hansen today. Mr. and Mrs. Bean will occupy a modern new brick house which has just been completed.

T. A. Gibson and wife, chiropractors, are at the Commercial Hotel. Corns, bunions and ingrowing nails treated in a few minutes without pain or blood. Drop a postal to above address. Will call at your home or place of business.

Miss Haley of Dualap, Ia., Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McGonklo and little daughter of Mechanicsville, Ia., are visiting their sister, Mrs. John Farish.

Miss Nellie Kling is visiting with friends in Marshfield.

AT THE SUMMIT OF MOUNT ROYAL, JUNE 15

By M. H. Jackson

Right here I shall begin my promised story. Ten thousand five hundred miles in one hundred days is the contract, and if all goes well we shall see England, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and Greece before we come home again.

Our story will not be connected, nor shall we attempt to overlap the work of an up to date encyclopedia. Our pictures will be "snap shots" as we run.

At present, I am seated beneath a tree at the tip top of Mount Royal (Mont Real). Champaign was right here when it was named, but he did not take a trolley car to the foot of the mountain before climbing nor did he go down in an elevator car on the other side as I shall do when I get my breath.

This north side of the mountain is rugged and hard to climb. My path up, except for an occasional empty picnic lunch box, or a discarded cigarette stub is exactly as it was when first discovered. Granite ledges can not be duplicated in art and the good people of Montreal are not interfering with the native beauty of this side of the mountain.

On the other side, beautiful drives and parks are laid out and tourists are invited to spend their money for souvenirs and refreshment at varying prices, but I am all alone, with the birds eye city spread out, all around the mountain, and the beautiful St. Lawrence River spreading out wider and wider on its journey to the sea.

My trip so far, has been a very pleasant one. From Milwaukee across the lake to Grand Haven and on up to Detroit was easy and pleasant, and the three hour trip on the Brieux to Beale Isle was delightful. Then on up through Toronto to this fairland, the scenery was never tiresome, and I shall remain here just twenty-four hours for rest and recreation. This afternoon we shall "shoot the Lachine Rapids," and tomorrow our course lies through the Green Mountains of Vermont to Boston where the good ship Winifredian is waiting for us, to give us our long looked for ocean trip to a summer vacation in the old world.

This mountain, at the top of which I am now resting, is 760 feet above water level, and the city of Montreal marks the head of ocean navigation up the river. It was here that French fur traders and explorers met with the Indians and established friendly relations which lasted many centuries. It was from this very soil that Champlain came from civilization, and joined an Indian hunting party for the purpose of exploration. The little lake bearing his name forming a part of the boundary line between the states of Vermont and New York marks a spot visited by him in those early days.

Just a few moments ago I met Fr. Champagnon, a Jesuit, who is resting from the strain of hard work that has to some extent impaired his health. His volume to me was most cordial, and it served to drive away a little tinge of homesickness that will creep on once in awhile. Fr. Champagnon is a warm, kindly, generous man, and through him it was possible for me to learn much that space forbids my giving you now, of the early history of this region.

Montreal is a French city with a generous appreciation shown to those who speak only English. A guide post on which is inscribed "An Sommet De La Montagne" also carries the inscription "To Mountain Top." "A La Ville" is helped along by "To the City."

There is also a very large English population in Montreal with a sprinkling of most of the nationalities found in "the states." The Murphy Bros. are doing business here as are the Gattousinis while Sam Walo Kee runs his laundry and the negro barber in a few instances is waiting on his customers as they do further south.

After the boat trip on the river we shall close the day with a belt line trolley ride around the base of the mountain, and bid good bye to one of the most picturesque spots in the world for I am sure we are all looking forward to the lands beyond the sea and we shall hardly believe the trip has really begun until we stand on the deck of the steamer "outward bound."

ADVISING FARMERS TO HOLD THEIR STOCK

There is no question but what the farmers of this vicinity are up against a pretty severe proposition in the matter of taking care of their stock and feeding properly during the coming fall and winter. Few of the present generation can remember a time when fodder was so scarce in central Wisconsin, and it is no wonder that many farmers have become sated at the prospects and are quietly engaged in disposing of their stock at a price that is way below what it has been bringing and what it will be.

Some of our business men have been interesting themselves in the matter and have looked into the hay question and find that it can be secured at a price that is not at all exorbitant, and they are advising farmers in this locality to save their stock and buy enough hay to carry them over. Our banks have signified their willingness to accommodate farmers who have no feed at the present time so that they may save their stock rather than to sell it at a low price and then have to buy it back later on at a much advanced figure.

BIRTHS

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Arine Arpin.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. George Trechet on July 21st.

A HOME INDUSTRY LARGELY PATRONIZED

—When the wide awake business men of Grand Rapids and vicinity are practically a unit in their patronage of a business or firm, the public can depend upon it that their judgment is about correct. We refer to the work entrusted by them to the Anderson Carriage works, the work being done promptly and in a skillful manner.

The shops are continually crowded with repairing, painting, rubber tire work, etc., and new vehicles are constantly under construction.

Up to date machinery is being used wherever possible and all work is done at a very reasonable price.

Among the business men who are using vehicles built at the Anderson Carriage works and whom we all know are:

Chambers Livery, 3 seated bus. Holmman Merc. Co., delivery wagon.

Love & Conners, delivery wagon. Chambers Livery, 2 seated buck board.

Fred Bossert, 2 seated buckboard. Geo. T. Rowland & Son, delivery wagon.

A. L. Skinner, delivery wagon. S. Gavro, Nekoma, delivery wagon.

Brazeau Merc. Co., Nekoma, delivery wagon.

Chas. Gurtler, transfer wagon. Chambers Livery, runabout.

Baker & Son, oxcart wagon. Grand Rapids Tea & Coffee Co., delivery wagon.

Link & Worle, delivery wagon. Chas. Hill, top buggy.

T. J. Cooper, runabout. Hagun & Shaver, oxcart wagon.

Chambers Livery, pull beacons wagon.

In the repair line nearly 200 vehicles have been painted, including automobiles, carriages and wagons, from the cheapest to the best.

All this work has been done within the past two years, the Anderson carriage works having located on the east side on Nov. 1, 1908.

A Rural Humorist.

Some of these newspaper publishers are quite funny at times. And the funny part of it is that they are the funniest when they are the most serious.

The editor of the Almond Press says he turned down $10 worth of advertising because it "was from an Oshkosh concern that wanted to advertise in his town and thus come into competition with his home mortchants. That's funny.

Another funny thing was that his home mortchants do not seem to care whether they advertise or not. You would not know there was a dry-goods store in the town by looking over the paper. Maybe if he had taken the Oshkosh ad some of his home mortchants might have come out of their comatose state, brushed the dust off from the bolts of calico, swept the cobwebs from the door, sharpened their pencil and written a small ad for the paper in order to offset the harm done by the Oshkosh concern. Then he would have had the forty plunks from the Oshkosh concern and probably forty more from the people around home. It might even have been the means of starting some in to advertise who had never done so before.

Then the same editor turned down plunks more from somebody who wanted to advertise against county option. It is pretty tough when your opponent cannot even air his opinions when he is willing to pay the regular advertising rates. You may not want to donate the columns of your paper to further the interests of the other fellow, but as long as he is willing to pay your price for the "work you might give him" some sort of a show. He may be in the right, after all.

It is hardly any wonder that some newspaper men have a hard time making both ends meet, and that the ghost fails to walk with that regularity that makes life worth the living to a working man.

We believe in trading at home, and not only preach the doctrine, but practice it as well, but we know that our merchants and hotel keepers and other business men patronize out of town printers when they consider it to their advantage to do so, so we have no compunction about taking outside advertising and would advise our contemporaries to do the same.

After the boat trip on the river we shall close the day with a belt line trolley ride around the base of the mountain, and bid good bye to one of the most picturesque spots in the world for I am sure we are all looking forward to the lands beyond the sea and we shall hardly believe the trip has really begun until we stand on the deck of the steamer "outward bound."

A Quiet Home Wedding.

Plainfield Sun—Wednesday at 6 o'clock p. m., at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Moody, in the east part of town, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Emma to Bert Layton, Rev. Ehrhardt performing the ceremony in the presence of only the immediate relatives. Miss Esther Moody of Vesper, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and Phillip Moody, a brother of the bride, was best man.

This young couple is well and favorably known to Plainfield people and their many friends wish them all kinds of joy in their new relationship. They will go to homeskeeping at once in their new home in the western part of town, recently purchased by the groom in anticipation of the happy event.

Misses Agnes Hanson and Nellie Nelson entertained at the pavilion Friday evening in honor of their friends Anna Lindquist and Hilma Gunnell of Merrill. Among those present were Emily and Myrtle Bossert, Dora Benson, Della Omsberg, Clara Carlson, Nellie Nelson, Anna Lindquist, Hilma Gunnell, Emma Schroeder, Bertha Gurtler, Inez Timm, Agnes and Alma Hanson. Refreshments were served and a good time was reported by all.

Miss Lola Bongers of Tomah is the guest of Miss Bertha Wittenberg for a few weeks.

STEVENS POINT WILL NOW HAVE A BOOM

There is every indication that Stevens Point will take a new lease of life in the near future and that the business interests of that town will experience a revival, the like of which has not occurred there for some time.

The cause of all the excitement is the fact that the Soo line will make the Point its division headquarters, and it is expected that the change will bring to that city something like 250 employees.

A CHANCE FOR A GOOD STATE JOB.

The State Civil Service Commission announces that a general competitive examination will be held on Saturday, August 20, 1910, for the positions of architectural draughtsman (state university), salaries $75 per month; assistant mechanic (state university), compensation 38 cents per hour; assistant physician (state institutions), salaries $300 to $1800, per annum and maintenance; assistant university editor (state university), open to women only, salary $500 per annum; machineist (state university), compensation 30 to 35 cents per hour; trained nurse (state institutions), salary $40 to $50 per month and maintenance.

Applicants are wanted also for the following positions, for which no written examination will be required. Applicants must appear before local examiners for an oral interview only during the week following August 20th.

Attendants (state hospitals for the insane and feeble minded), salaries $20 to $30 per month and maintenance; carpenter, salary $30 to $75 per month, 37 1/2 cents per hour for temporary work; family officer and matron (industrial school at Wausau), combined salary $100 to $100 per month and maintenance; fireman, salaries $35 to $100 per month; guard (Waupun Prison and Green Bay Reformatory), salaries $15 to $30 per month; housekeeper (school for the blind at Janesville), salary $35 per month and maintenance; housekeeper of Dormitory (normal school at Superior), salary $50 per month; janitor (state university and normal schools), salaries $15 to $55 per month; officer and teacher (industrial school at Wausau), salary $10 to $50 per month and maintenance; orderly (Wales Sanitarium), salaries $20 to $30 per month and maintenance; teacher guard (reformatory at Green Bay), salaries $50 to $62.50 per month and maintenance.

Auto Strikes a Horse.

John Posley had the misfortune to strike a horse on Thursday night of last week while returning from Stevens Point, injuring the horse in such a manner that it had to be killed.

Several horses were being led along the highway by Louis Goldberg and they kicked up quite a dust and Mr. Posley states that he ran away off to one side of the road in his effort to get out of the way, but at the moment of passing one of the led horses jumped in front of the machine and the consequence was that it was struck and the animal's leg broken, so that it had to be killed.

Mr. Posley's auto was damaged to a considerable extent, the radiator being bent and battered, the glass front and the lights broken and other damage done. The owner of the horse presented a bill to Mr. Posley for $340 for the horse, but Mr. Posley does not propose to pay, as he claims he used ordinary care while driving along the road.

Scandinavian Moravian Church.

Scandinavian services will be held on Sunday morning. Christian Endeavor at 7:30 p. m. On Tuesday, August 2nd, the Sunday school will hold its annual picnic at Kippis Hill. Members of the school will be furnished street car tickets free of charge. The monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society will be held at the Sunday school picnic. Confirmation services will be held in Grand Rapids on August 7th and in Rudolph on August 14th.

PORT EDWARDS.

O. W. Dodge left on Saturday night for Spokane, Wash., where he will have charge of the construction of a new paper mill. Mr. Dodge has been connected with the paper company at Port Edwards for many years and is said to have done more toward bringing their mills into their present state of efficiency than any other man in their employ. Mrs. Dodge will join her husband in about three months and they expect to make their permanent home there. James Nash also left for Spokane the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Alexander, Miss Alexander and John Alexander, left for Milwaukee on Friday from which place they will shortly start upon their European trip. Mr. Alexander made a short trip here Tuesday, arriving in the morning and departing in the evening, in order to complete all the necessary business consequent upon his coming three months absence.

Beat Port Edwards.

The Consolidated papermakers showed their superiority over the Port Edwards papermakers at base ball on Sunday at the ball park by trimming them up to the tune of 7 to 2. The game was an interesting one and was witnessed by a fair sized crowd. The Consolidated boys had their opponents shut out up to the 7th inning when Livi Leroux broke the hoodoo by scoring a home run and two more runs were made in the ninth inning. There is some talk of playing another game in the near future between the same teams for a side bet, the proceeds to go towards a big chicken chowder for the boys along the river.

Fahner and Mericle were the battery for the Consolidated and Leroux and Bourgard for the Port. Ted Payne acted as umpire and gave general satisfaction.

Loses Barn by Lightning.

Andrew Schroedel of the town of Sigel had his barn and contents burned during the storm Saturday night. Mr. Schroedel saved his team, but two cows were killed near the barn by the lightning. About 12 tons of hay were consumed by the flames. Mr. Schroedel's loss will be considerable over $1000, partly insured in the Seneca, Sigel & Rudolph Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

The mills here have not been running at their full capacity the last few weeks because of lack of power but Saturday nights storm caused such a rise in the river that conditions are much better than they have been.

Passed a Bogus Check.

A man giving his name as W. R. Franzens passed a check for five dollars on John Hollmuller on Friday which proved to be without value when Mr. Hollmuller tried to get the money on it.

The man came into Mr. Hollmuller's saloon and bought a drink, asking if Mr. Hollmuller would cash a small check for him, stating that he was here to look after the delivery of some pulp wood at Port Edwards. Upon being told that he could get some money he took out a check book and wrote a check on the bank at Stratford for five dollars, stating that he was employed by the R. Connor Co. at that place. When the check was sent to Stratford it was not paid, no such man being employed by the company, nor having a bank account there.

Mrs. Wilbur Dolan and Mrs. W. L. Hall of Sioux City, Iowa, and Mrs. Wm. Coylo of Rhinelander, who have been guests at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Farrell for some time, returned to their homes on Monday.

Miss Anna Menier departed on Monday for an extended visit with relatives in Canada.

Campbell Bros. 30 car circus will appear here on Aug. 16th. The show is said to be a good one.

SPLIT EVEN AGAIN WITH MERKILL TEAM

The local baseball team went to Merrill on Saturday and played two games with the team up there, winning one and losing one. The Grand Rapids team won on Saturday, when the score was 3 to 0 and on Sunday Merrill won by a score of 4 to 1. In speaking of the games the Merrill Daily Herald says:

"Two of the best base ball games ever seen in this city were played at the fair grounds Saturday and Sunday between the home team and the strong Grand Rapids nine.

In Saturday's game Gen Geiger, of Ladysmith, was catching behind the bat for Merrill and was unable to hold VanPatter, allowing three men to cross the rubber.

In the fourth inning, Abel was put in behind the bat and from that time on Grand Rapids did not come anywhere near crossing the rubber again. Merrill was unable to bring in a score Saturday, but yesterday things looked brighter from the start.

Every member of the team was alive to base ball and VanPatter was in his best.

During Sunday's game Trasmor was struck with the bat and injured to such an extent that he was unable to go on with the game, and it was at first thought that his injuries might be serious, but later reports are to the effect that he is getting along all right.

Democrats in Convention.

The democrats held a convention at Marshfield last Friday, commencing at ten o'clock in the morning. It was expected that a session could be held in the morning and all the business disposed of so as to allow those from this end of the county to get home on the afternoon train. However, this was found to be impossible, owing to the large number in attendance, and another session was held in the afternoon.

The meeting was called to order by L. M. Nash, chairman of the county committee.

W. E. Wheelan was put in as temporary chairman of the meeting and C. E. Bales was elected temporary clerk. This organization was subsequently made permanent.

The candidacy of John F. Lamont of Wausau for congressman was, on motion, unanimously endorsed.

Mr. Thomas Patterson of Wausau county was, on motion, endorsed for state senator.

W. E. Wheelan was endorsed for member of assembly.

Those being three members in the field for sheriff, namely Michael Masmon, Julian T. Welch and John Schmidt, no action was taken on this matter.

A motion was made and carried that a committee of five be appointed to fill the balance of the ticket and as members of such committee the chair appointed A. G. Pankow, A. B. Sator, H. E. Fitch, L. M. Nash and Henry Kaheloh. Among those suggested by the committee were:

Arthur P. Malroy, County Clerk.

Joseph P. Holutz, County Treasurer.

C. E. Edwards and E. C. Pors, district attorney.

Wm. Corcoran, surveyor.

H. J. Pankow, register of deeds.

Wm. H. Gatta, Clerk of Court.

It was moved by Dr. H. Wahlh that our representatives in the legislature be instructed irrespective of party to use their best endeavors to secure the passage of a law giving to the electors the power of a recall. The motion was unanimously carried.

It was moved and seconded that the convention go on record in favor of the Initiative and referendum, which was unanimously adopted.

The officers for the ensuing year as elected at the convention were as follows:

A. G. Pankow, chairman.

A. B. Sator, secretary.

H. E. Fitch, treasurer.

Among those from this vicinity who attended the convention were L. M. Nash, John Nash, C. Gurtler, D. D. Conway, C. E. Bales, H. E. Fitch, W. J. Gatta, Mike Griffin, J. K. P. Hiles, W. E. Wheelan, A. B. Sator, Julian Welch, and Patrick Malroy.

Cost Him $11

Henry Paulson was up before Judge Brown on Thursday morning on a charge of being drunk and disorderly and the fine and costs amounted to $11.00.

Paulson was at the Pavilion the night before and was making himself generally obnoxious when Officer Ecklund arrested him.

AT THE SUMMIT OF MOUNT ROYAL, JUNE 15

By M. H. Jackson

Right here I shall begin my promised story. Ten thousand five hundred miles in one hundred days is the contract, and if all goes well we shall see England, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and Greece before we come home again.

Our story will not be connected, nor shall we attempt to overlap the work of an up to date encyclopedia. Our pictures will be "snap shots."

At present, I am seated beneath a tree at the tip of Mount Royal (Mont Real). Champlain was right here when it was named, but he did not take a trolley car to the foot of the mountain before climbing nor did he go down in an elevator car on the other side as I shall do when I get my breath.

This north side of the mountain is rugged and hard to climb. My path, except for an occasional empty picnic lunch box, or a discarded cigarette stub is exactly as it was when first discovered. Granite ledges can not be duplicated in art and the good people of Montreal are not interfering with the native beauty of this side of the mountain.

On the other side, beautiful drives and parks are laid out and tourists are invited to spend their money for souvenirs and refreshments at varying prices, but I am all alone, all around the birds eye city spread out, all around the mountain, and the beautiful St. Lawrence River spreading out wider and wider on its journey to the sea.

My trip so far, has been a very pleasant one. From Milwaukee across the lake to Grand Haven and on up to Detroit was easy and pleasant, and the three hour trip on the Baitavia to Beale Isle was delightful. Then on up through Toronto to this fairland the scenery was never tiresome, and I shall remain here just twenty-four hours for rest and recreation. This afternoon we shall "shoot the Lachine Rapids," and tomorrow our course lies through the Green Mountains of Vermont to Boston where the good ship Winifredian is waiting for us, to give us our long looked for ocean trip to a summer vacation in the old world.

This mountain, at the top of which I am now resting, is 750 feet above water level, and the city of Montreal marks the head of ocean navigation up the river. It was here that French fur traders and explorers met with the Indians and established friendly relations which lasted many centuries. It was from this very spot that Champlain cut loose from civilization, and joined an Indian hunting party for the purpose of his name forming a part of the boundary line between the states of Vermont and New York marks a spot visited by him in those early days.

Just a few moments ago I met Fr. Champagne, a Jesuit, who is resting from the strain of hard work that has to some extent impaired his health. His welcome to me was most cordial, and it served to drive away a little tinge of homesickness that will creep on once in awhile. Fr. Champagne is a warm, kindly, generous man, and through him it was possible for me to learn much that space forbids my giving you now, of the early history of this region.

Montreal is a French city with a generous appreciation shown to those who speak only English. A guide post on which is inscribed "An Summit De La Montagne" also carries the inscription "To Mountain Top." "A La Ville" is helped along by "To the City."

There is also a very large English population in Montreal with a sprinkling of most of the nationalities round in the states. The Murphy Bros. are doing business here as are the Gatenstons while Sam Vale Kee runs his laundry and the negro barber in a few instances is waiting on his customers as they do farther south.

After the boat trip on the river we shall close the day with a belt line trolley ride around the base of the mountain, and bid good bye to one of the most picturesque spots in the world for I am sure we are all looking forward to the lands beyond the sea and shall hardly believe the trip has really begun until we stand on the deck of the steamer "outward bound."

ADVISING FARMERS TO HOLD THEIR STOCK

There is no question but what the farmers of this vicinity are up against a pretty severe proposition in the matter of taking care of their stock and feeding properly during the coming fall and winter. Few of the present generation can remember a time when fodder was so scarce in central Wisconsin, and it is no wonder that many farmers have been so eagerly engaged in disposing of their stock at a price that is way below what it has been bringing and what it is worth.

Some of our business men have been interesting themselves in the matter and have looked into the hay question and find that it can be secured at a price that is not at all exorbitant, and they are advising farmers in this locality to save their stock and buy enough hay to carry them over. Our banks have signified their willingness to accommodate farmers who have no feed at the present time so that they may save their stock rather than to sell it at a low price and then have to buy it back later on at a much advanced figure.

BIRTHS

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Arine Arpin.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. George Frechette on July 21st.

A HOME INDUSTRY LARGELY PATRONIZED

—When the wide awake business men of Grand Rapids and vicinity patronize a unit in their public can depend upon it that their judgment is all correct. We refer to the work entrusted by them to the Anderson Carriage works, the work being done promptly and in a skillful manner.

The shops are continually crowded with repairing, painting, rubber tire work, etc., and new vehicles are constantly under construction.

Up to date machinery is being used wherever possible and all work is done at a very reasonable price.

Among the business men who are using vehicles built at the Anderson Carriage works and whom we all know are:

Chambers Livery, 3 seated bus. Heilmann Merc. Co., delivery wagon.

Love & Cepress, delivery wagon. Chambers Livery, 2 seated buck board.

Fred Bossert, 2 seated buckboard. A. L. Skinner, delivery wagon.

S. Gavre, Nekosa, delivery wagon. Brazner Merc. Co., Nekosa, delivery wagon.

Chas. Gurtler, transfer wagon. Chambers Livery, runabout.

Baker & Son, casket wagon. Grand Rapids Tea & Coffee Co., delivery wagon.

Link & Werle, delivery wagon. Chas. Hill, top buggy.

T. J. Cooper, runabout. Ragun & Shaver, casket wagon.

Chambers Livery, pall bearers wagon.

In the repair line nearly 200 vehicles have been painted, including automobiles, carriages and wagons, from the cheapest to the best. All this work has been done within the past two years, the Anderson carriage works having located on the east side on Nov. 1, 1908.

A Rural Humorist.

Some of these newspaper publishers are quite funny at times. And the funny part of it is that they are the funniest when they are the most serious.

The editor of the Almond Press says he turned down $40 worth of advertising because it was from an Oshkosh concern that wanted to advertise in his town and thus come into competition with his home merchants. That's funny.

Another funny thing was that his home merchants do not seem to care whether they advertise or not. You would not know there was a dry-goods store in the town by looking over the paper. Maybe if he had taken the Oshkosh ad some of his home merchants might have come out of their comatose state, brushed the dust off from the bolt of calico, swept the cobwebs from the door, sharpened their pencil and written a small ad for the paper in order to offset the harm done by the Oshkosh concern. Then he would have had the forty plunks from the Oshkosh concern and probably forty more from the people around home. It might even have been the means of starting some in to advertise who had never done so before.

Then the same editor turned down ten plunks more from somebody who wanted to advertise against county option. It is pretty tough when your opponent cannot even air his opinions when he is willing to pay the regular advertising rates. You may not want to donate the columns of your paper to further the interests of the other fellow, but as long as he is willing to pay your price for the "work you might give him" some sort of a show. He may be in the right, after all.

It hardly any wonder that some newspaper men have a hard time making both ends meet, and that the ghost fails to walk with that regularity that makes life worth the living to a working man.

We believe in trading at home, and not only preach the doctrine, but practice it as well, but we know that our merchants and hotel keepers and other business men patronize out of town printers when they consider it to their advantage to do so, so we have no compunction about taking outside advertising and would advise our contemporaries to do the same.

A Quiet Home Wedding.

Plainfield, N. J.—Wednesday at 6 o'clock p. m. at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Moody, in the east part of town, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Emma to Bert Layton, Rev. Ehrhardt performing the ceremony in the presence of only the immediate relatives. Miss Esther Moody of Vesper, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and Phillip Moody, a brother of the bride, was best man.

This young couple is well and favorably known to Plainfield people and their many friends wish them all kinds of joy in their new relationship. They will go to home-keeping at once in their new home in the western part of town, recently purchased by the groom in anticipation of the happy event.

Misses Agnes Hanson and Nellie Nelson entertained at the pavilion Friday evening in honor of their friends Anna Lindquist and Hilma Gannell of Merrill. Among those present were Emily and Myrtle Bossert, Dora Benson, Della Casberg, Clara Carlson, Nellie Nelson, Anna Lindquist, Hilma Gannell, Emma Schroeder, Bertha Gurtler, Inez Timm, Agnes and Alma Hanson. Refreshments were served and a good time was reported by all.

Miss Lela Bongers of Tomah is the guest of Miss Bertha Wittenberg for a few weeks.

STEVENS POINT WILL NOW HAVE A BOOM

There is every indication that Stevens Point will take a new lease of life in the near future and that the business interests of that town will experience a revival, the like of which has not occurred there for some time.

The cause of all the excitement is the fact that the Soo line will make the Point its division headquarters, and it is expected that the change will bring to that city something like 350 employees.

The citizens of Stevens Point are jubilant over the proposed change, and they have reason to be. When the Wisconsin Central railway removed their shops from Stevens Point eleven years ago, they left that city in a deplorable condition from a business standpoint, and it has taken them the greater part of the time since then to recover from the shock. But they have recovered, and they are to be congratulated upon the fact that once again they are to be favored by the establishment of another live business proposition. They are entitled to all they get out of it.

Auto Strikes a Horse. John Possley had the misfortune to strike a horse on Thursday night of last week while returning from Stevens Point, injuring the horse in such a manner that it had to be killed.

Several horses were being led along the highway by Louis Goldsberg and they kicked up quite a dust. Mr. Possley states that he ran and Mr. Possley states that he ran away off to one side of the road in his effort to get out of the way, but at the moment of passing one of the led horses jumped in front of the machine and the consequence was that it was struck and the animal's leg broken, so that it had to be killed. Mr. Possley's auto was damaged to a considerable extent, the radiator being bent and battered, the glass front and the lights broken and other damage done. The owner of the horse presented a bill to Mr. Possley for $340 for the horse, but this Mr. Possley does not propose to pay, as he claims he used ordinary care while driving along the road.

Scandinavian Moravian Church.

Scandinavian services will be held on Sunday morning. Christian Endeavor at 7:30 p. m. On Tuesday, August 2nd, the Sunday school will hold its annual picnic at Kippa Hill. Members of the school will be furnished street car tickets free of charge. The monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society will be held at the Sunday school picnic. Confirmation services will be held in Grand Rapids on August 7th and in Rudolph on August 14th.

PORT EDWARDS.

O. W. Dodge left on Saturday night for Spokane, Wash., where he will have charge of the construction of a new paper mill. Mr. Dodge has been connected with the paper company at Port Edwards for many years and is said to have done more toward bringing their mills into their present state of efficiency than any other man in their employ. Mr. Dodge will join his husband in about their months and they expect to make their permanent home there. James Nash also left for Spokane the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Alexander, Miss Alexander and John Alexander left for Milwaukee on Friday from which place they will shortly start upon their European trip. Mr. Alexander made a short trip here Tuesday, arriving in the morning and departing in the evening, in order to complete all the necessary business consequent upon his coming to this month's absence.

Chris Peterson departed Saturday night for a short trip to Minneapolis where Mrs. Peterson is visiting at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Madsen are nicely settled in their new home.

Fred Anouts of Rothschild spent Sunday with his family.

Dr. R. C. Aylward made a business trip to Madison last week.

Mr. Rosenbush of Milwaukee, who is greatly interested in the new mill to be built at Spokane, Wash., made several trips here of late to see Mr. Alexander.

The mills here have not been running at their full capacity because of last few weeks because of lack of power but Saturday nights storm caused such a rise in the river that conditions are much better than they have been.

Passed a Bogus Check.

A man giving his name as W. R. Franzens passed a check for five dollars on John Hollmuller on Friday which proved to be without value when Mr. Hollmuller tried to get the money on it.

The man came into Mr. Hollmuller's saloon and bought a drink, asking if Mr. Hollmuller would cash a small check for him, stating that he was here to look after the delivery of some pulp wood at Port Edwards. Upon being told that he could get some money he took out a check book and wrote a check on the bank at Stratford for five dollars, stating that he was employed by the B. Connor Co. at that place. When the check was sent to Stratford it was not paid, no such man being employed by the company, nor having a bank account there.

Mrs. Wilbur Dolan and Mrs. W. L. Hall of Sioux City, Iowa, and Mrs. Wm. Coyle of Rhinelander, who have been guests at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Farrell for some time, returned to their homes on Monday.

Miss Anna Menier departed on Monday for an extended visit with relatives in Canada.

A CHANCE FOR A GOOD STATE JOB.

The State Civil Service Commission announces that a general competitive examination will be held on Saturday, August 20, 1910, for the positions of architectural draughtsman (state university), salaries $15 to $108.33 per month; assistant mechanic (state university), compensation 38 cents per hour; assistant physician (state institutions), salaries $40 to $1200, per annum and maintenance; assistant university editor (state university), open to women only, salary $500 per annum; machineist (state university), compensation 20 to 38 cents per hour; trained nurse (state institutions), salary $30 to $55 per month and maintenance.

Applicants are wanted also for the following positions, for which no written examination will be required. Applicants must appear before local examiners for an oral interview only during the week following August 20th.

Attendants (state hospitals for the insane and feeble minded), salaries $20 to $40 per month and maintenance; carpenter, salary $50 to $75 per month, 37½ cents per hour for temporary work; family officer and matron (industrial school at Waupun), combined salary $60 to $100 per month and maintenance; fireman, salaries $35 to $40 per month; guard (Waupun Prison and Green Bay Reformatory), salaries $45 to $60 per month; housekeeper (school for the blind at Janesville), salary $35 per month and maintenance; housekeeper of Dormitory (normal school at Superior), salary $50 per month; janitor (state university and normal schools), salaries $45 to $55 per month; officer and teacher (industrial school at Waupun), salary $10 to $50 per month and maintenance; orderly (Waupun Sanitarium), salaries $20 to $30 per month and maintenance; teacher guard (reformatory at Green Bay), salaries $50 to $62.50 per month and maintenance.

Applicants are requested to send at once to the State Civil Service Commission, Madison, Wis., for application blanks and printed information. These blanks should be filled out and forwarded so as to reach the office of the Commission at Madison not later than 10 a. m. Tuesday, August 16th, 1910. Permits will be mailed to applicants who comply with this required time limit. These permits will state the exact date, time, place and building for the above mentioned examinations and oral interviews.

The State Civil Service Commission will give a general competitive examination some time next fall to select a candidate for a cadetship from the state-at-large to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y. Young men desirous of becoming applicants are requested to write the office of the Commission at Madison for blanks and printed information.

Beat Port Edwards.

The Consolidated papermakers showed their superiority over the Port Edwards papermakers at base ball on Sunday at the ball park by trimming them up to the tune of 7 to 2. The game was an interesting one and was witnessed by a fair sized crowd. The Consolidated boys had their opponents shut out up to the 7th inning when Lavi Leroux broke the hoodoo by scoring a home run and two more runs were made in the ninth inning. There is some talk of playing another game in the near future between the same teams for a side bet, the proceeds to go towards a big chicken chowder for the boys along the river.

Fahner and Mericle were the battery for the Consolidated and Leroux and Bourgard for the Port. Tom Payne acted as umpire and gave general satisfaction.

Loses Barn by Lightning.

Andrew Schroedel of the town of Sigel had his barn and contents burned during the storm Saturday night. Mr. Schroedel saved his team, but two cows were killed near the barn by the lightning. About 12 tons of hay were consumed by the flames. Mr. Schroedel's loss will be considerable over $1000, partly insured in the Seneca, Sigel & Radolph Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Congregational Picnic.

The members of the Congregational church and their friends held a picnic at the pavilion on Tuesday afternoon, at which there was a large attendance. An elaborate program had been arranged for the day and everybody had a most delightful time.

Candidate for Sheriff.

—I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of sheriff of Wood County on the republican ticket subject to the action of the primaries in September. A. J. Cowell

SPLIT EVEN AGAIN WITH MERRILL TEAM

The local baseball team went to Merrill on Saturday and played two games with the team up there, winning one and losing one. The Grand Rapids team went on Saturday, when the score was 3 to 0 and on Sunday Merrill won by a score of 4 to 1. In speaking of the games the Merrill Daily Herald says:

"Two of the best base ball games ever seen in this city were played at the fair grounds Saturday and Sunday between the home team and the strong Grand Rapids nine."

In Saturday's game Geo. Geiger, of Ladysmith, was watching behind the bat for Merrill and was unable to hold VanPatter, allowing three men to cross the rubber.

In the fourth inning, Abel was put in behind the bat and from that time on Grand Rapids did not come anywhere near crossing the rubber again. Merrill was unable to bring in a score Saturday, but yesterday things looked brighter from the score. Every member of the team was alive to base ball and VanPatter was in his best.

During Sunday's game Treasurer was struck with the ball and injured to such an extent that he was unable to go on with the game, and it was at first thought that his injuries might be serious, but later reports are to the effect that he is getting along all right.

Democrats in Convention.

The democrats held a convention at Marshfield last Friday, commencing at ten o'clock in the morning. It was expected that a session could be held in the morning and all the business disposed of so as to allow those from this end of the county to get home on the afternoon train. However, owing to the large number in attendance, another session was held in the afternoon.

The meeting was called to order by L. M. Nash, chairman of the county committee.

W. E. Wheelan was put in as temporary chairman of the meeting and C. E. Bolos was elected temporary clerk. This organization was subsequently made permanent.

The candidacy of John P. Lamont of Waupun for congressman was, on motion, unanimously endorsed.

Mr. Thomas Patterson of Waupun county was, on motion, endorsed for state senator.

W. E. Wheelan was endorsed for member of assembly.

There being three members in the field for sheriff, namely Michael Mason, Julian T. Welch and John Schmidt, no action was taken on this matter.

A motion was made and carried that a committee of five be appointed to fill the balance of the ticket and as members of such committee the chair appointed A. G. Pankow, A. B. Sutor, H. E. Fitch, L. M. Nash and Henry Kuchel. Among those suggested by the committee were:

Joseph P. Malroy, County Clerk. Joseph P. Holutz, County Treasurer. C. B. Edwards and E. G. Park, district attorney.

Wm. Corcoran, surveyor. H. J. Pankow, register of deeds.

Wm. H. Gott, Clerk of Court. It was moved by Dr. H. Wanhle that our representatives in the legislature be instructed irrespective of party to use their best endeavors to secure the passage of a law giving to the electors the power of a recall. The motion was unanimously carried.

It was moved and seconded that the convention go on record in favoring the initiative and referendum, which was unanimously adopted.

The officers for the ensuing year as elected at the convention were as follows:

A. G. Pankow, chairman. A. B. Sutor, secretary.

H. E. Fitch, treasurer. Among those from this vicinity who attended the convention were

L. M. Nash, John Nash, C. Gurtler, D. D. Conway, C. E. Bolos, H. E. Fitch, W. H. Gott, Mike Griffin, J. K. P. Hills, W. E. Wheelan, A. B. Sutor, Julian Welch, and Patrick Malroy.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

The question of divorce has been under careful consideration for many centuries. The Pharisees tempted Christ by asking him judgment on the Mosaic law of divorce, and received an answer direct and fundamental. It has been a serious, a continuous, a vexatious question from time immemorial, says Newark News. All governments, clerical and civil, have tried to settle it and have failed. Our own government and each of the states and all the courts have for many years been trying to establish uniform divorce laws, and to discourage divorce, as much as possible. Yet they are increasing instead of diminishing. A few denominations will not tolerate divorce, but the civil laws recognize them. From the point of view of the latter the innocent party to divorce proceedings is guilty of no offense, ought not to be held in dishonor and should be permitted to marry again. It is the abuse of the divorce laws by immoral, unconscionable, undesirable citizens that has brought the most serious dishonor upon the dissolution of the marriage contract. The reformed synd's attitude with reference to innocent parties in necessary divorce proceedings accords with general public sentiment. What should be done to the guilty ones is yet under discussion.

The bill advocated by the Audubon societies of the state of New York, forbidding the sale within this state of the plumage of any wild bird which is protected within New York, has passed the legislature and is awaiting the governor's signature. We trust it will receive his approval, says Rochester Herald. For many years the Audubon societies have labored unavailingly to educate the people of this state to the economic as well as the sentimental value of wild bird life. Their progress has been very slow. The rural communities of the state, even the fruit-raising sections of western New York, have been afflicted with almost incredible ignorance of the usefulness of birds. Farmers' boys often rob birds' nests of their eggs, and name themselves by aiming their newly acquired firearms at birds of every kind. It is seldom that a word of caution is heard from the male parent, whose property the young mischievous-maker is hastening to destroy.

A porous plaster worth $50 is something of a novelty in the curative agency line. A druggist in Middletown, N. Y., is the possessor of this valuable article, and he is about to send it to the treasury department at Washington to be redeemed. The worthy druggist was troubled with a lame back and had his wife apply a plaster. The lady did not apply a $50 bill which her husband had placed on a dresser in their room, and the note was sticking to the plaster when the latter was put where it might do the most good. There was much mystery and a long hunt before the bill was located, but now plaster, bill and all will be sent to the government. Officials and "something just as good" will be substituted.

A Chicago doctor has arranged to give the dogs a drink this summer. He has bought a thousand two-quart basins and the city council has allowed him to distribute them about the city in front of stores and houses, and the tenants will be expected to see that they are kept filled with water for the benefit of the dogs. The doctor got the notion from the City of Mexico, where storekeepers are required to keep such basins at their doors. The idea is a good one, and should reduce the number of mad dog scares in Chicago this summer. There will be less hydrophobia if the dogs can get water whenever they want it.

Connecticut is traditionally the land of steady habits, and perhaps a "whopper" of a fish story coming from that quarter will get more credence than if it originated in a more slushy source. Anyway, a resident of Winsted states that he found a fish in his well, and when he hooked it he discovered that it was a trout so large that the well curb had to be removed before the fish could be hauled out. The saving grace of this fish tale is that the narrator does not attempt to give the weight of the monster catch.

BURGLAR MURDERS IRA G. RAWN, PRESIDENT OF THE MONON.

(HEY EXCHANGE BULLETS.

Awakened by Prowler in Summer Home at Winnetka Railroad President Seizes Revolver and Is Shot Down, Thief Escaping.

Chicago, Ill., G. Rawn, president of the Monon railway, was shot through the heart and instantly killed at his summer home in Winnetka, by a would-be robber. The burglar escaped. There is no clue to his identity.

Servants and women in the house, roused by the shot, found Mr. Rawn lying in the hallway on his face. The front door was open. There was no one in sight.

The fact that the murder was committed by a burglar was established by the finding of bloody marks on the floor, which had been forced open.

The story of the shooting of Mr. Rawn was told by Ralph G. Coburn, a non-lawyer of the victim.

"Mrs. Rawn was awakened by sounds on the first floor of the house," he said. "Mr. Rawn also was awakened and he also heard the sounds."

"He descended the stairs and had barely reached the landing when exactly in the house was awakened by the rear of two shots fired in quick succession.

I. G. Rawn.

"I rushed out as did the others. We found Mr. Rawn lying in his night clothes. Blood was trickling from his breast."

"He struggled, turned over, tried to speak, and could not. We sent for a doctor. Mr. Rawn died within five or six minutes after the shot had been fired. He did not regain consciousness."

"We immediately summoned the Winnetka police, and it was they who found the mark on the door which established the fact that the crime had been committed by a burglar. Other than that we have no clue."

"The house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Rawn, their daughter, Mrs. Higelow, and my wife and myself and our two children. There were also three servants in the house, the cook, Mrs. Rawn's maid, and Mrs. Higelow's maid. None of the rest of us heard the sound of the burglar."

Only one bullet took effect. "The other went wild."

A half hour after the murder had been committed Pinkerton detectives and other private detectives were hired by the sons of the dead man.

"We will offer a reward," said Mr. Coburn and spare no expense to capture the assassin.

Following so soon after the burglary at the home of Leland Holt last Saturday or Sunday night when Mr. and Mrs. Holt were out of town, the incident has aroused the residents of the suburb. Plans for better police protection are being talked of and the crime of this morning probably will incite the villagers to take immediate action.

While Mr. and Mrs. Holt were away from home at Lake Geneva last week burglars entered their home and stole several thousand dollars' worth of silverware, jewelry, and heirlooms. No report of the matter was made to the local police till after Mr. and Mrs. Holt returned home on Monday.

STRIKE ON GRAND TRUNK SYSTEM TIES UP FREIGHT.

Passenger Service Is Compelled—Milk Famline Threatens Montreal—Strikers Are Orderly.

Montreal.—It was estimated Tuesday that 16,000 men were out of employment as a result of the strike of employees of the Grand Trunk railroad system which went into effect Monday night.

The strike order was obeyed by 6,000 conductors and trainmen and the company Tuesday locked out 10,000 men in the shops in the hope that they would accept the positions deserted by the conductors and trainmen. The coup has not been successful.

Freight and passenger traffic on the entire Grand Trunk system is congested. Freight is piling up in immense quantities at the various transfer points, with no likelihood of being moved for a long time.

A few trains were run by minor officials of the road, with office clerks to take the tickets, but this method has proven a failure. Passengers will not purchase tickets because of the inability of the company to guarantee a through trip to any point.

A milk famine is threatened in Montreal by reason of the company's failure to deliver any part of the usual supply of that commodity from outlying points. Also there is a marked scarcity of other necessities such as transported by the railroad.

There was nothing approaching disorder among the strikers at any point along the system, excepting in one instance, in which a brakeman on a Grand Trunk train at Flint, Mich., was attacked by the strikers and saved by his mother, who shamed the strikers into retreat.

Toronto, Ont.—The second day of the strike on the Grand Trunk has been uneventful throughout Ontario. Through passenger trains are running fairly on time. A few locals have been abandoned. No attempt is being made to move freight.

The freight situation in this city is indeed serious. The yards and sidings are congested with cars. The few companies are suffering, and much profitable freight is being raised. That strikes that the city is undergoing a milk famine and soon would suffer for want of meat are unfounded.

Cleveland, O.—There will absolutely be no quarter given in the fight between the Canadian trainmen and the Grand Trunk and Vermont railways."

"The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors will back the strikers to their last penny."

"The strikers will hold out for the same terms granted by the Baltimore & Ohio, and which every other railroad excepting the Grand Trunk and the Vermont has accepted."

Gov. Carroll Is Indicted. Grand Jury Returns Bill Charging Iowa's Chief Executive With Criminal Libel.

Des Moines.—Gov. B. F. Carroll was indicted Wednesday by the Polk county grand jury here on the charge of criminal libel preferred against him by John Cowie, former member of the state board of control, whom the governor forced to resign under charges of misconduct professed in affidavits by girl inmates of the Girls' Reformatory at Mitchellville.

After his resignation Governor Carroll was forced to resign without a hearing and Governor Carroll issued a published statement in which he set forth the claim that Cowie had sold disowned cattle belonging to the state and had conducted himself unbecomingly among the girls at Mitchellville.

The governor was released on his own recognizance and will demand an immediate trial. His effort will be to prove the truth of his statements and show justification for publishing them. Under the Iowa statute the penalty upon conviction is imprisonment in the penitentiary not to exceed one year or a fine not to exceed $1,000.

REPORT CRIPPEN IN CANADA. Liner Steward Declares Alleged Wife Slayer Reached Montreal on Steamer Magellan.

Montreal, Que.—Positive statements that Doctor Crippen, the London murderer, sought by Scotland Yard, arrived here Sunday on the White Star Dominion liner Magellan, was made Monday by H. J. Atres, saloon steward of this ship, who is corroborated by two other stewards.

The actions and appearance of a passenger who was attended at table by Atres and accompanied by a woman registered only as "Caruthers," seemed suspicious to the steward.

The police believe Crippen has left Montreal for American soil.

ANIMA, HEINEMAN AND BLOOM VILLE DESTROYED; OTHERS THREATENED.

FIREMEN ARE IN PERIL

Company Barely Escapes Death Fighting Flames Near Galloway.—Fire in Marathon County Threaten Hatten Lumber; Aid Asked For.

Merrill.—The village of Heineman, fourteen miles northeast of Merrill, was destroyed Wednesday afternoon by fire. The high wind from the west fanned the flames from the west end of the village, and soon the planing mill, the lumber pile of the Heineman lumber company, the general store and the residences and other properties were destroyed.

The town of Bloomville, fourteen miles northwest of Merrill, was also destroyed Wednesday afternoon. Residents of Merrill went out in automobiles and rescued the inhabitants of the burning town.

The people, about 400 in number, were taken to Gleason, about four miles away.

The forest fires which destroyed Bloomville, which is two miles east of Heineman, were general throughout that district. Numerous farm houses were destroyed, and the losses are incalculable.

When the people were being taken out of Heineman the flames were leaping into the air 200 feet from the burning lumber piles.

It was impossible to get in touch with more than ten miles north of Merrill, and it is feared that the town has been destroyed. Forest fires are burning on all sides of the village.

Antigo.—Practically the entire town of Antigo, eleven miles south of this place, has been destroyed by forest fires which still are sweeping miles of territory on all sides of the village.

All who connection with Antigo has been severed, and it has been impossible to reach the town by train. The local fire department succeeded on Wednesday in sending through several pieces of fire fighting apparatus, but practically all the 100 or more dwellings have already been destroyed in addition to lumber company property.

It is reported that 7,000,000 feet of lumber has been destroyed. A sawmill located a few miles from the village was burned. The fires are sweeping over an area more than twenty miles wide. In addition to smaller bush fires burning in all directions.

Whitcomb.—The lumber company southwest of here, in Marathon county, is burning. Fire engines from Wisconsin and New London and hundreds of men have been fighting for weeks to check the advance of the fire. On Wednesday the Hatten Lumber company lost 1,000,000 feet of hardwood logs near Galloway, 14,000 cords of wood and the "cum log" loader.

One of the fire companies lost 800 feet of hose and the men had difficulty in escaping from the trap in which they were caught. The fire blocks traffic on the Northwestern between Elderon and Rosholt. An engine sent down from Elderon to haul loaded cars to safety at Galloway was unable to get through, and the cars were burned.

Telephone connection between here and Galloway, Hatten and Rosholt is cut off, and it is feared the first two villages may be wiped out. A heavy rain of smoke hangs over the country, making midday as dark as evening.

Pira between here and Antigo has destroyed large quantities of cedar poles and now belonging to the Whitcomb Cedar company.

The loss in standing timber can not be estimated now. Much of the Galloway and Hatten country is covered by virgin forest. It belongs principally to the Hatten Lumber company, New London; Moore & Galloway, Fond du Lac, and to Brooks & Ross, Schofield.

SEES INSURGENCY'S DEATH. Cannon Says It Will Cease to Be an Issue After the Present Campaign.

St. Louis.—Speaker Cannon, who Wednesday night passed through St. Louis en route from Kansas to his home in Danville, Ill., declared here that after the present campaign insurrection would cease to be an issue.

He said he was much pleased with his reception in Kansas, and believed he had done much good.

"I haven't been bitter against Senator Briskow and the Kansas insurgents," he said. "I do not want them shot, as I have been quoted as saying. It is not warfare. If it were warfare, they certainly would be shot, because they are nothing more than guerrillas. You know what the insurgents are doing."

The speaker said he expected to rest at home for the next three weeks.

United States Bars Fair Typist. Washington.—Women stenographers and typists apparently no longer are wanted in the government service. This announcement was made on Tuesday at the civil service commission in an effort to put a stop to a steadily increasing flood of letters from women throughout the country who seek information about the civil service examination to be held next Tuesday in all the states and territories. This examination is for the purpose of recruiting only men stenographers and typists.

THE EMBARRASMENTS OF AIR-LINE TRAVEL

PLOT TO KILL AMERICANS

Officials Set Upon by Renegade Moros. Three of Outlaws Are Slain and Five Wounded in Fusillade.

Manila.—Dean C. Worcester, American secretary of interior for the Philippines, was set upon by renegade Moros, on the island of Palawan Monday and escaped assassination only through the alacrity of his bodyguard, who shot down the outlaws, killing three of them outright.

Secretary Worcester was touring the island, which is the most westerly of the larger Philippine group, bound for the Sulu sea on the west, and was present at the installation of the new governor.

In anticipation of his coming a band of Moros planned his death. Armed with bolos carefully concealed, they laid a trap for the secretary, who suddenly found himself the object of a savage rush.

Captain Mayhew of the scouts was the first to recognize the hostile movement and just in the nick of time he ordered the scouts to fire.

At the fusillade three Moros who had the attack dropped dead actually to the ground. Several others doubled up with more or less severe wounds.

The rest of them took to their heels. Investigation showed that the attack by the renegade Moros also was a part of a plot against Provincial Governor Evans.

Governor Evans and Mr. Worcester had landed on the island and were to take a boat for a river trip. A Moro leader objected and a party of about a hundred warriors rushed from ambush, attacking the party. Mr. Worcester was in front.

At the crucial moment the guards, commanded by Captain Mayhew of the scouts, opened fire.

Five of the wounded were captured and placed under arrest. Others escaped into the jungle, but a detail of scouts was sent after them.

JEWS DRIVEN OUT OF KIEV. Expulsion by Russia of Israelites at Rate of 45 Individuals Each Day.

Kiev, Russia.—The expulsion of Jews from Kiev continues at the rate of 45 individuals a day. From July 1 until July 15 497 were expelled by what is known as the second method of eviction. During the same period 1,212 persons were expelled by the first method, which, in effect, is a warning for their departure, but permits them time for a settlement of private affairs. In the majority of cases the latter method proved ineffectual, as the Jews in that category are prone to return to Kiev after temporary absence.

During the 12 days mentioned there were 355 expulsions from Solomenka and 151 from Demiocka.

Accused of Slaying Sister. Wayne, Neb.—William Fleg was arrested Wednesday on a charge of murdering his sister, Miss Louise Fleg. William Fleg, aged eighteen, was a hired hand on the Fleg farm, is also under arrest. He told the sheriff that Fleg wished to marry Miss Ida Hendricks, who lives on an adjoining farm. Miss Fleg objected to the marriage. According to Elshenbach's "confession" she was murdered by her brother that he might marry Miss Hendricks.

Hon. Charles H. Weisse of Sheboygan Falls, member of congress from that district, and who is just closing his fourth term, announces to the Democrats of Wisconsin that he will be a candidate for United States Senator before the September primaries.

In making this announcement Mr. Weisse does so at the request of Democrats who are anxious to see a spirited contest thereby assuring a large vote at the primaries and materially strengthening the party in the state.

A friendly contest, yet spirited, always tends to create interest and so it will be, in this campaign with Mr. Bert Williams of Ashland and Mr. Weisse as the opposing candidates.

Progressives, standing for those things which the people want and will eventually have, they are undoubtedly strong men.

After declining to be a candidate for congress to succeed himself, more than 5,000 voters in that district appealed to him by petitions to stand as a candidate.

At the same time Mr. K. Reilly of Fond du Lac announced that he would withdraw from the field if Mr. Weisse desired to honor the wishes of the people and a similar statement came from Mr. E. Burke of Dodge county.

The Ozaukee county candidate, Harry Boleus, accepted the tender by the convention, that of lieutenant governor, thus being out of the race.

E. W. Clark of Fond du Lac has repeatedly expressed himself along the same lines. This would have left the field practically clear for Mr. Weisse but he had given his word that he would not be a candidate and at no time has he seen fit to change the decision made previous to the receipt of the 5,000 signatures.

A contest is assumed in this district which will bring out a large vote, but in the state at large the conditions are different. Until Mr. Weisse announced that he would be a candidate for United States senator not a contest was assumed which would guarantee to Democracy a heavy vote throughout the state of Wisconsin.

It is not, however, in a platform so much as in the spirit with which it is adopted that a party's attitude is to be determined. The people are quite familiar with platforms that are adopted "to get in on" and that are not taken seriously by their authors.

In the Payne-Aldrich revision of the tariff they were treated to the spectacle of a repudiation of solemn pledges. The spirit of the Democratic convention was progressive. It manifested its faith by its works. It did not rest content with a Progressive platform, but it nominated candidates whose progressive standing is unquestioned.

A. J. Schultz for governor and Bert Williams for United States senator are two candidates whose nomination unmistakably marks the Progressive purposes of the convention and the Progressive spirit that dominates the Wisconsin Democracy.—Milwaukee Journal.

Therefore, Forget Them.

The troubles of to-morrow disqualify us for the duties of to-day.

Old Time Temperance.

The first temperance society is said to have been founded by Margaret Frederick V. in 1900, and it is instructive to learn that the noble members of that society were bound by a pledge good for two years not to drink more than seven bumper of wine with any meal nor more than fourteen bumper a day. They were, however, permitted to quench any surplus of thirst with beer and to drink one glass of whiskey on the side. By this ideal of abstinence may be gauged the ordinary drinking habits of our forefathers in the good old times when neighborhood was in flower.—Morris Hillquit in Socialism.

His Walking Papers.

"My sister 'll be down in a minute," said little Clarence, who was entertaining the young man in the parlor. "I heard her tellin' maw a little while ago that she was goin' to give you your written permission to perambulate tonight. What do you reckon she meant by that?"

"I think I know, Clarence," said the young man, reaching for his hat. "You may tell her, if you please, that I have decided not to wait for it."—Exchange.

Barring It Out.

Into Parent: "So you think my daughter loves you, sir, and you wish to marry her? Young Loretta—that's what I called to see you about. And if you don't mind I thought I'd just ask first if there is any insanity in your family. Irate Parent—No, sir, and there's not going to be any.—London Express.

Parliamentary Procedure.

"How about my letter of proposal?" demanded the young congressman.

"It has been advanced to a second reading," answered the laughing Washington belle.—Kansas City Journal.

Weisse to Be a Candidate.

Hon. Charles H. Weisse of Sheboygan Falls, member of congress from that district, and who is just closing his fourth term, announces that he will be a candidate for United States Senator before the September primaries.

In making this announcement Mr. Weisse does so at the request of Democrats who are anxious to see a spirited contest thereby assuring a large vote at the primaries and materially strengthening the party in the state.

A friendly contest, yet spirited, always tends to create interest and so it will be, in this campaign with Mr. Bart Williams of Ashland and Mr. Weisse as the opposing candidates. Progressives standing for those who believe the people want and will eventually have, they are undoubtedly strong men.

After declining to be a candidate for congress to succeed himself, more than 5,000 voters in that district appealed to him by petitions to stand as a candidate. At the same time M. K. Reilly of Fond du Lac announced that he would withdraw from the field if Mr. Weisse desired to honor the wishes of the people and a similar statement came from M. E. Burke of Dodge county. The Ozaukee county candidate, Harry Bolous, accepted the tender by the convention, that of Lieutenant governor, thus being out of the race. E. W. Clark of Fond du Lac has repeatedly expressed himself along the same lines. This would have left the field practically clear for Mr. Weisse but he had given his word that he would not be a candidate and at no time has he seen fit to change the decision made previous to the receipt of the 5,000 signatures. A contest is assured in a large district which will bring out a large vote, but in the state at large the conditions are different. Until Mr. Weisse announced that he would be a candidate for United States senator most would guarantee to Democracy a heavy vote throughout the state of Wisconsin.

It is not, however, in a platform so much as in the spirit with which it is adopted that a party's attitude is to be determined. The people are quite familiar with platforms that are adopted "to get in on" and that are not taken seriously by their authors. In the Payne-Aldrich revision of the tariff they were treated to the spectacle of a repudiation of solemn pledges. The spirit of the Democratic convention was Progressive. It manifested its faith by its works. It did not rest content with a Progressive platform, but it nominated candidates whose Progressive standing is unquestioned.

A. J. Schmitz for governor and Bart Williams for United States senator are unmistakably marks the Progressive purposes of the convention and the Progressive spirit that dominates the Wisconsin Democracy.—Milwaukee Journal.

Therefore, Forget Them. The troubles of to-morrow disqualify us for the duties of to-day.

Old Time Temperance. The first temperance society is said to have been founded by Margrave Frederick V. in 1500, and it is instructive to learn that the noble members of that society were bound by a pledge good for two years not to drink more than seven bumpers of wine with any meal nor more than fourteen bumpers a day. They were, however, permitted to quench any surplus of thirst with beer and to drink one glass of whiskey on the side. By this ideal of abstention may be gauged the ordinary drinking habits of our forefathers in the good old times when neighborhood was in flower—Morris Hillquit in Socialism.

His Walking Papers. "My sister 'll be down in a minute," said little Clarence, who was entering the young man in the parlor. "I heard her tellin' maw a little while ago that she was goin' to give you written permission to perambulate tonight. What do you reckon she meant by that?"

"I think I know, Clarence," said the young man, reaching for his hat. "You may tell her, if you please, that I have decided not to wait for it."—Exchange.

Warren Index.—Mrs. Inez Craue and daughter Agnes entertained eighteen friends Tuesday evening in honor of their guest, Miss Bessie Farrah of Grand Rapids. Refreshments were served and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

According to a report of State Fire Marshall T. M. Purcell, eight deaths and two hundred accidents resulted in the state's Fourth of July celebration. And the report is not yet completed. The warden is drafting a municipal ordinance designed to control the sale of fireworks.

The Chippewa Times says: "About ninety names a day are being dropped from the pension rolls. The average is equivalent to about 3,700 deaths a month, or about 39,000 annually, among federal survivors of the civil war carried on the pension list. The old soldiers of both armies are vanishing rapidly. Just how many survive will not be known until after the completion of the thirteenth census."

The satisfaction of one's own conscience is a great help. A hungry Irishman once went into a restaurant on a Friday and when the waiter came around he said: "Have you any whistles?" The waiter smilingly said they were just out. Then he wanted to know if they had any shark, or swordfish. (It) was told that they had none of either. "All right," said the Irishman. "Then bring me ham and eggs and a beef steak smothered in onions. The Lord knows I asked for fish."

The government has fixed the maximum fine for placing writing in packages sent through the mails at $100. Therefore there was a penalty of $10 for anyone who committed the offense. Then it was only necessary to hint out the offender, and if he acknowledged his mistake, make him pay $10, then the postoffice inspector could attend to him. But now the fine has been raised from $10 to $100 and has become a statute. In case of an offense under the law, it is now necessary to bring the offender up before the court and have the case heard. If he is found guilty the judge may impose a fine as great as $100 and not less than $10. Packages are included in all third and fourth class mail.

Mrs. W. C. Weiskel of Heinemann is the guest of her sister, Mrs. I. Baruch, in this city. Mrs. Weiskel was at her home in Heinemann when that village was swept by fire, and the family made their escape from the burning village in the Heinemann auto, which happened to be there at the time. According to those who were at the village when the fire occurred, there were certainly some most unusual and heartrending experiences. The fire approached the village so rapidly that it was only a short time from the moment when the fire became dangerous until everything was ablaze and people were flying to save their lives, most of them being unable to take much with them in the way of personal property. Miss May Baruch was visiting at Heinemann at the time of the disaster and made her escape with the rest of the refugees.

Nurses Become Crusaders.

An imposing obstacle in the path of progress in the care, control and prevention of consumption has been removed by the action of the Wisconsin State Association of Graduate Nurses in adopting resolutions calling upon training schools to furnish adequate instruction in tuberculosis. When such instruction is not possible in the training schools, the association suggests affiliation with tuberculosis sanatoria, to the end of fitting every nurse with sound knowledge in the care of tuberculous patients in the home or in institutions.

It has been a matter of regret among physicians that training schools have neglected instruction in tuberculosis. This has been due mainly to the antiquated ideas concerning the disease held by these schools. The neglect has been reflected in the work of nurses, who have fought shy of tuberculosis cases, doubtless from fear of contracting the disease.

"Nurses do not hesitate to take cases of typhoid fever, which is as infectious as consumption; nor do they fear diphtheria and scarlet fever, which are much more malignant and communicable than consumption," says a municipal health officer, "but a nurse's reluctance to take tuberculosis is a matter of regret."

"The Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association is enthusiastic over the action of the nurses' association, as it means the enlistment of the earnest and capable co-operation of an important factor."

Cruel.

"Your wife wants you to wear a beard, doesn't she?" "Wants scarce the ly expressly it." "I wonder what the idea is?" "She has an idea that my beard would be gray if I fight her to grow, and she thinks she would look younger by contrast."—Houston Post.

Bricks from Antilla.

Excellent bricks are made of the soil of antilla in central Africa. The natives tread it with water into a doughlike substance, which is shaped in rough wooden molds. It is then dried the sun, and afterward baked in native kilns.

Must Be Above Suspicion.

Kidney and bladder ailments are so serious in their consequences, and if unchecked so often fatal that any remedy offered for their cure must be above suspicion. Foley's Kidney Pills contain no harmful drugs, have a successful record a long and thorough test. Johnson & Hill Co. and J. E. Daly.

Mrs. John Hutchinson, 632 Second St. N., Grand Rapids, Wis., says: "I was well satisfied with the results that followed the use of Doan's Kidney Pills in my case. For some time I suffered from backache, pains across my loins and frequent headaches. I had but little strength or ambition and felt tired and languid nearly all the time. The kidney secretions were unnatural and deposited a heavy sediment. A friend finally advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box. They regulated the passages of the kidney secretions, strengthened my back and I felt better in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Of August it may first be said, its name is from Augustus, whom men have likened unto Ted, perhaps without injustice. He made the world go round about as many times a minute, and the news was always dail without the great Augustus in it.

He had his Annals Olaf for liars and for fakers, and he loved to sit his little tub among the Roman breakers. He counted pence a cent of plagues, and never did pursue it, but let it rally at The Hague, and you couldn't beat him to it.

He preached about the same old things that Teddy has been preaching, and most of Rome's awakenings resulted from his teaching. He battled hotly for the right, and valiantly imposed it, and the stork could not attempt to light but what he up and shooed it.

There was, however, one affair to tell which is to tattle, and that was where this Roman bore was coming in from battle. He had, of course, put everything opposing him to slumber, and Rome awaited him to sing some laudatory number.

But here the parallel deserts. Augustus said them, No, sir! and when he entered with his lies it might have been the grocer for all the greeting that he got from that admiring chorus, the which desire, of course, was not a bit like Theodoras.

But however, when he died the month that loves to grill us was being written far and wide the season of Soxtilus. They wanted to commemorate the hot time he presented the nation with, at any rate, so August was invented.

The dog days will resume again, and the man who voted water with the weather down to eight or ten Below will grow the hotter.

With wishing that he had foreseen The season hot and stewing, And nothing but a choice between Pink lemonade and bluing.

It will not strike him, we're afraid, as when the cold was stinging, and up and down the wind swept street the icicles were clanging. There's nothing like a dry parade, the shouts of Hallelallah, and the children skillfully arrayed for what you want to cool you.

It's very easy to forget there's such a thing as Summer, for such a quantity as sweat, what time the busy drummer is rab-dubbing up the street a million bumps a minute, and the line sweeps by with rhythmic feet and the little shavers in it.

It somehow makes it seem that booze is only fit for motors, and in the scuffle that ensues not very many voters bethink them that a chance remains that milk won't give them gristle to last when August boils their brains and their ears begin to whistle.

A crafty temperance is that contriving its elections when Boreas is at the bat in these disputed sections. There is a time for everything, to labor not to pottor, and one to sit way back and sing inanably for water.

At any rate, the world will spin With very small pretension, And the fall elections will begin To clamor for attention.

The next few weeks will fire the gun. Repeatedly and oftly, And a lot of folks begin to run For office very softly.

The bold, insurgent will have polled the principal chateaus, and will by that time have been told how far discreet his balk was, or if to follow is attack with farther demonstration, or quietly to tip-toe back upon the reservation.

The hopeful Democrat will tool this way and that way training, and hope to have as a rule have none of their explaining. He'll carefully trim up his wick and get his pump poleating, and pass the grand stand every six to seven seconds waiting.

There'll be some dust put up, it seems, when this event gets going, and some things stating at the seams that wanted proper sewing. No wonder Roosevelt came back, and nowadays his gun is rusting in the shooting rack, when here is where the fun is.

The time of green and growing things will near its termination, and the song the thrasher sweetly sings will come with moderation. We'll sort of think of autumn time, the hunter and the nutter, and the fishing hole will wear a slime as thick as apple butter.

And then September will return In good autumnal fashion, And the poet fall upon his harp In something of a passion.

According to a report of State Fire Marshall T. M. Purcell, eight deaths and two hundred accidents resulted in the state's Fourth of July celebration. The report is not yet completed. The warden is drafting a municipal ordinance designed to control the sale of fireworks.

The Chippewa Times says: "About ninety names a day are being dropped from the pension rolls. The average is equivalent to about 2,700 deaths a month, or about $2,000 annually, among federal survivors of the civil war carried on the pension list. The old soldiers of both armies are vanishing rapidly. Just how until survive will not be known until after the completion of the thirteenth census."

The satisfaction of one's own conscience is a great help. A hungry Irishman once went into a restaurant on a Friday and when the waiter came around he said: "Have you any whaley?" The waiter smilingly replied: "Yes, sir." Then he said they were just out. He wanted to know if they had any shark, or swordfish. "I'll 'sall that they had none of either. 'All right," said the Irishman. "Then bring me hama and eggs and a beef steak smothered in onions. The Lord knows I asked for fish."

The government has fixed the maximum fine for placing writing in packages sent through the mails at $100. Heretofore there was a penalty of $10 for anyone who committed the offense. Then it was only necessary to hunt out the offender, and if he acknowledged his mistake, make him pay $10, then the postoffice inspector could attend to that. But now the fine has been raised from $10 to $100 and has become a statute. In case of an offense under the law, it is now necessary to bring the offender up before the court and have the case heard. If he is found guilty the judge may impose a fine as great as $100 and not less than $10. Packages are included in all third and fourth class mail.

Mrs. W. C. Weisel of Heineman is the guest of her sister, Mrs. I. Burch, in this city. Mrs. Weisel was at her home in Heineman when that village was swept by fire, and the family made their escape from the burning village in the Heineman auto, which happened to be there at the time. According to those who were at the village when the fire occurred, there were certainly some most unusual and heartrending experiences. The fire approached the village so rapidly that it was only a short time from the moment when the fire became dangerous until everything was ablaze and people were flying to save their lives, most of them being unable to take much with them in the way of personal property.

Miss May Barnoch was visiting at Heineman at the time of the disaster and made her escape with the rest of the refugees.

Nurses Become Crusaders.

An imposing obstacle in the path of progress in the care, control and prevention of consumption has been removed by the action of the Wisconsin State Association of Graduate Nurses in adopting resolutions calling upon training schools to furnish adequate instruction in tuberculosis. When such instruction is not possible in the training schools, the association suggests that to the end of fitting every nurse with sound knowledge in the care of tuberculosis patients in the home or in institutions.

It has been a matter of regret among physicians that training schools neglected instruction in tuberculosis. This has been due mainly to the antiquated ideas concerning the disease held by these schools. The neglect has been reflected in the work of nurses, who have fought shy of tuberculosis cases, doubtless from fear of contracting the disease.

"Nurses do not hesitate to take cases of typhoid fever, which is as infectious as consumption; nor do they fear diphtheria and scarlet fever, which are much more malignant and communicable than consumption," says a well known Milwaukee physician.

"With proper precautions, consumption is not at all dangerous to those surrounding the patient. If there is a faithful observation by patient and attendant of the rules regarding the disposal of the source of infection—there is no danger."

The Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association is enthusiastic over the action of the nurses' association, as it means the enlistment of the earnest and capable co-operation of an important factor.

The SPIRIT of the WEST

Wonderful Development Since Dawn of Irrigation

By C.J. BLANCHARD
U. S. Reclamation Service

In spirit of the west is optimism and progress. It is the spirit that fired the hearts of our forefathers who created in the primeval forests of New England the superstructure of the greatest nation on earth. It is the optimism and faith which helped their descendants who created an agricultural richness from the Mississippi valley.

Once a wilderness so unapproachable that it evoked derision in the halls of congress, the west has become today the land of fortune and opportunity. In this land of boundless distances the altitude is stimulating, the air is a tonic, giving health to the human and courage to those who have fallen elsewhere. Its constant sunshine encourages optimism and cheerfulness. The glories of its opal-tinted dawn, the indescribable beauty of its sunsets and the nameless witchery of its twilight softly melting into night are the work of a divine painter.

There is a mental and spiritual uplift in its mountains, whose summits are in regions of perpetual snow. Its sapphire lakes, reflecting in beauty those of Switzerland, upon up a wondrous field of interest and pleasure to the sightseer and those in search of rest and recreation. The monarchs of its forests cast their shadows on the earth before the coming of the gentle Navaho.

Its canons, sculptured during uncounted centuries by wind and wave, are unrivaled in their wonderful and varied coloring and in their awe-inspiring depths. Its deserts, in vastness of area, in potential wealth of soil and climate, and in rivers of constant supply, are sleeping empires awaiting exploitation and development. Here nature offers to every man his bright light—a wide sky, the sunshine, the wind, and a sure reward for intelligent effort. Here things are in characters too vast for human pen.

The late Gov. John A. Johnson well said the west symbolizes "homes for the homeless, food for the hungry, work for the unemployed, land for the landless, gold for the penniless, freedom for the enslaved, adventure for the restless, dangers for the brave, an unknown world to conquer, and room for all."

Irrigation has wrought its miracle and 13,000,000 acres reclaimed are annually producing harvests valued at more than $250,000,000 and supporting in homes of their own more than 300,000 families. The wealth of that portion of the country which great statesmen in Webster's day were wont to declare worthless is greater now than that of the entire nation in 1800.

In the swift march of national events during the past century, the development of the west has focused the attention of the world. It furnishes one of the most inspiring pages in the annals of our commonwealth. It is a story of progress and human achievement—a battle with nature in her sternest and most forbidding aspect.

Future writers will record the irrigation movement as an epoch in our history the far-reaching influence of which overshadowed in importance any other progressive movement since the opening of settlement of the Mississippi valley. The reclamation of vast areas of our arid and semi-arid regions, which is being promoted by the federal government and by large corporations working in conjunction with several states, is of profound economic importance to the nation.

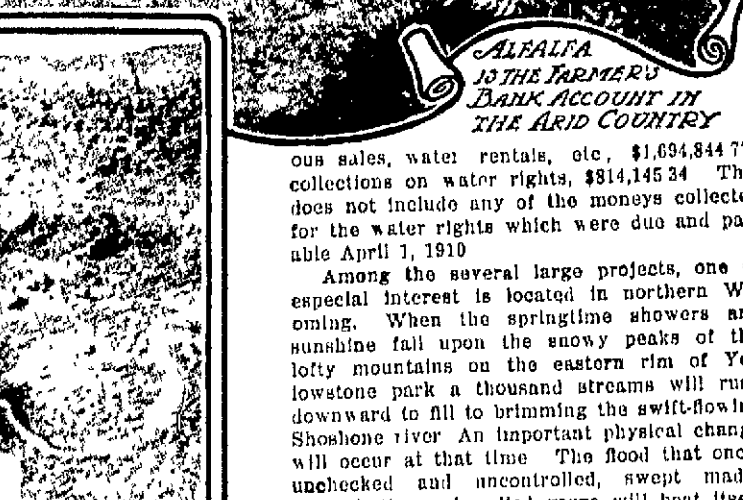

The additional opportunities thus created for home makers are already serving to check the undesirable exodus of the country people to the cities. Millions of acres of desert, untouched by rain and storing in its bosom the fertility gathered there by centuries of washings from hills and mountains, are being quickened by life-giving water.

Cities, populous and great, have sprung up; rural communities, attractive and prosperous, broad vistas of fertile fields and blossoming orchards whose yields are prolific beyond comparison, replace the wastes of sand and sage brush.

Economic forces are at work today in the country, and particularly in the arid west, which are gradually but surely shaping our agricultural development along new lines. In many parts of the irrigated country agriculture now occupies a position of greater dignity among the vocations than ever before. Its place among the scientific professions is now recognized and it is calling more strongly every day for the best talent and brains the nation affords.

LOOKING DOWN INTO THE CANYON, YARIMA PROJECT, WASHINGTON

HIGHEST DAM IN THE WORLD, THE SHOSHONE DAM, WYOMING

The reclamation service began its work in 1902 on the passage of the reclamation act. The first contract was let in September of the next year and on June 17, 1905 an important project in Nevada was formally opened.

Progress has been rapid and the activities of the bureau have been extended to 25 or more projects, which to date have involved the expenditure of $60,000,000. In the seven and one-half years of its work the service has built 4,215 miles of canal. Placed end to end, these canals would reach from Washington to San Francisco and back to New Orleans. Several of these canals carry whole rivers.

It has excavated 17 miles of tunnels. Before the end of the year it will have completed four of the highest dams in the world. Its excavations of rock and earth amount to the enormous total of 60,000,000 cubic yards. Its roads have a total length of 417 miles, telephone lines 1,127 miles, levees, 70 miles.

It has purchased 915,761 barrels of cement and has manufactured in its own mills 310,000 barrels. As a result of its work water is available for 750,000 acres of 1,000 farms.

The gross value of crops produced on the lands irrigated by the government projects in 1910 was $11,038,000. As a result of the work of the government it is estimated that land values have increased more than $105,800,000.

The reclamation service is entering 1910 with money and plans for completing most of its larger and unfinished masonry structures and with about three-quarters of a million of acres of arid land under irrigation.

It will finish this year the great Roosevelt dam in Arizona, one of the most massive in the world. It has completed the Shoshone dam, in northern Wyoming, the highest structure of its kind ever built, the Pathfinder dam, in southern Wyoming, and the Laguna dam, in Arizona. It will for the first time utilize the Gunnison tunnel, whose completion was celebrated by President Taft last summer.

The funds available for construction are somewhat less than in previous years, and the organization, which is very elastic, has been cut down to $1,000,000. In 1907, nearly $1,000,000. Then the expenditures decreased to $10,000,000 in 1908, to about $9,000,000 in 1909, and in 1910 they will be a little under $8,000,000. It is expected that in 1911 they will shrink to about $7,000,000, which sum will probably continue to be available during after years, assuming that the water-right charges are paid as they fall due.

"This is the most critical period in the history of national irrigation since the passage of the reclamation act. In 1902, by public notice of the secretary of the interior, issued last year, hundreds of water right installments, involving approximately $1,000,000, became due on April 1, 1910. That date is a memorable one, not only to the settlers, whose entries are liable to cancellation for failure to make the payments due, but also to the reclamation service, which is concerned in securing the return of its investment in the engineering works. It is also a matter of interest to citizens of the number of sections containing feasible projects, the construction of which cannot be undertaken without additional funds. As the requirements are made through the local land offices and not directly to the service, some time must elapse before the actual amounts collected are known. On a number of the projects, like Sun River, Shoshone and Huntley, the settlers have already made their initial payments and will not be delinquent on the second installment until April, 1911, which enables them to market two crops between payments. On several other projects, such as the Mindoka, Klamath, Lower Yellowstone, Bella Fourche, Carlsbad, Truckee-Cannon, North Platte and others the first settlers have had the use of water for two crops, and it is probable that a majority will be able to meet their obligations without difficulty.

Detailed reports from various sources on each of the projects have been received at Washington. The conditions as a whole are described as favorable for a large return to the reclamation fund. On several of the projects there will be no delinquencies. On a number of projects the engineering work is not fully completed, but water is ready for large areas and is being supplied on a rental basis pending the announcement of the actual cost of water right. The reclamation service has derived considerable revenue from these sources and at the same time the farmers have been enabled to increase the areas in cultivation. The following financial statement is interesting as showing the status of the reclamation fund and the amounts which thus far have been credited to it through the operations of the reclamation service.

Total moneys received and transferred to the reclamation fund from sales of public lands under reclamation act to February 28, 1910, $58,342,617.02. Approximately $4,500,000 are still in the treasury of the United States, but not yet available.

Moneys received under operations of reclamation act from all sources in cash and credits, for work done, $2,379,475.04, divided as follows: Town-let sales, $103,673.91; miscellaneous men of moderate means to secure homes in a prosperous and growing country.

Citizens to the Black Hills, in South Dakota, lies the beautiful valley of Bella Fourche, containing 100,000 acres of grass-covered prairie. Many miles of canals have been laid across its level surface, and what was only a short time ago the finest fine cattle range in this country is rapidly becoming a compactly settled agricultural community.

An impressive engineering feature of this project is the Owl Creek dam, one of the longest and highest earthen embankments in the world. This structure, now nearing completion, is 6,200 feet long, has a maximum height of 115 feet and contains 1,500,000 cubic yards of material.

The Roosevelt dam, which is about completed as you read the story today, is in many respects the most remarkable structure of its kind in the world. Its towering height, 280 feet, its length on top 1,050 feet, the inspiring scenery in which it is located and the enormous capacity of the reservoir created by it combine to make it one of the most stupendous engineering works of modern times.

Conceive, if you can, two valleys—one 12 miles, the other 15 miles in length, and each from one to three miles wide—transformed into a lake 200 feet deep in places and containing enough water to cover Delaware a foot deep.

The Salt River reservoir, when full, has a capacity sufficient to fill a canal 300 feet wide and 15 feet deep extending from Chicago to San Francisco.

My one regret is that the space allotted me is too little to permit me to describe the charms and advantages of other projects of the government. I should like to tell you of the opportunities on the Klamath project, located in southern Oregon, in a region of unrivaled scenic beauty, of the wonderful progress made in the Boise valley, in Idaho, and the promise of even greater advance as the work of the government nears completion, of the Orland project, in the Sacramento valley, the land of fruit and flowers; of the Rio Grande valley, where there will one day be erected the most stupendous dam in the west—a region in which irrigation began before the Spanish invasion, which will become fruitful and prosperous.

The beacon of hope shines brightly in the west. It beckons the landless man to the man-

WISCONSIN HAPPENINGS

Chippewa Falls.—Peter Gilbertson, aged fifty, was injured by an explosion in the stone quarry of the Chippewa Falls Construction company at Colfax. While preparing the blast he had three quarts of powder in a tin can standing on a rock beside him. The powder became ignited by the fierce heat of the sun. Gilbertson was blown ten feet, though he weighs 275 pounds. His face and arms were burned, and fellow workmen rushed to him and tore off his clothes. He was taken to a hospital here and his condition is precarious. Gilbertson was blasted in quarries for thirty years and this was his first mishap. His home is at Frontenac, Minn.

Okauchee.—Maintenance of the level of Lake Okauchee and other improvements have been launched by the Okauchee Lake Improvement association of this place. The aim is to make it still more popular as a summer resort for the people of Milwaukee and other cities. The level of the lake was definitely settled by the association in 1909. It is also planned to place buoys in dangerous places, to provide lights at night, to improve the roads, obtain proper adjustment of taxes, secure police protection, and to provide regulation of launches. Meetings will be held each Sunday morning.

Eau Claire.—Tribes No. 1 of the Bulawayo Indians, a recently formed organization composed almost entirely of North side business men, has selected a handsome and very attractive log cabin on the Eau Claire river near the mouth of Seven Mile creek. The log cabin has been built from white pine logs and will be used during the summer as an outdoor resort by the members of the tribe. Recently a guest from Wabasha, Minn., who was shown the cabin, was so impressed with it that he donated an appropriate picture of an Indian chief, which is to be hung on one of the walls.

Madison.—That the illness of the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Olson is due to an explosion of a torpedo in his stomach, which he swallowed on July 4, is the contention of Madison physicians. On the Fourth the boy accidentally swallowed the torpedo. A few days later he became sick and for a time it was feared he would not live. The explanation given by the doctors is that the torpedo contained potassium chlorate and nitroglycerine and that the action of the stomach caused an explosion.

Waukegan.—Miss Hattie Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Miller, 323 Raymond street, has disappeared from her home, and her absence is causing great anxiety to her parents. The police have been notified, but all their attempts have proven fruitless. Hattie was employed in the kitchen of the Revere hotel and came home June 11 with her pocket book for $15 and told her mother she was going to cash it. Nothing has been heard of her since.

Janesville.—Charles Slavinski, a banker, was slashed about the head and a deep gash was cut over his right eye by a negro who attacked him on a dark street and robbed him of $11. Slavinski cries at the police and the negro was pursued, but escaped. Search is being made for Charles McKee, a partner of Moore, is held by the police.

Chippewa Falls.—The first electrical storm of the summer visited this city and county. It was accompanied by the first real rain since May 17. It came too late to save crops other than corn, potatoes, tobacco and sugar beets. Considerable damage is reported to farm buildings struck by lightning.

Wausau.—Emil Brueger, aged forty-five years, is missing. He is a native of Wausau, Wis., and is reported to be in the Wisconsin river on the theory that he committed suicide or walked into the river during mental aberration thought to be due to hot weather. His hat was found floating in the river.

Beloit.—Local colored people are making plans for a celebration at Igo-negah park on June 14th, the day, August 4. A feature of the day will be the barbecue dinner which will be served at noon.

Berlin.—G. A. R. veterans from three counties, Waukegan, Green Lake and Waubesa are meeting in a two-day reunion in this city.

Granby.—Following are the officers elected at the annual meeting of the First Bank of Granby: A. P. Nelson, president; S. Thompson, vice-president; Ole Anderson, cashier; J. L. Roberts, assistant cashier; Robert Caswell, assistant cashier; William Anderson and Andrew Peterson, directors.

Fond du Lac.—Farm buildings owned by Charles Pohlman, two miles from Oak Center, burned Friday night. The loss is $2,000, half covered by insurance.

La Crosse.—Because he is overflowing with human kindness, Jailor S. F. Brown is alleged by the county board and the district attorney to be a proper man for the position. He was removed by Sheriff Duncan Brown is blamed for the escape of nine prisoners within the past few months. It is not alleged that he conspired at their escape, but that he was too easy with the prisoners.

Beloit.—Prof. F. E. Converse, for fifteen years superintendent of the public schools at Beloit, is at Claremont, Cal., investigating an offer of a similar position there.

New Richmond.—Mayor Charles Donohue has had the saloonkeepers of the city "up on the carpet." His clear, shaven, and wears, besides immaculate linen, a careworn, worried expression.

He pulls out his watch, presumably to see how much of the honeymoon is left.

"When he registers at the hotel 'and wife' is written twice as large as his own name."

She never fails to ask how many lumps of sugar he takes in his coffee. Judge.

CARRIES BIG LIFE POLICY

Prince Henry of Prussia Said to Have Insurance Amounting to $10,000,000 Against Assassination.

In appearance Prince Henry of Prussia, who is one of the cleverest and possibly one of the most distinguished of Queen Victoria's grandsons, bears a striking resemblance to King George V. and, like his majesty, is the son of the family. His first love of the sea was acquired under somewhat unusual circumstances. In 1871, the young Prince Frederick took her to a club boys for a change of air to Wyke, a primitive little bathing place on the Scheldt coast. The interest of the young prince was aroused when one day a small yacht anchored off the village, and they appeared to have a keen desire for a closer inspection of the vessel. The owner became aware of this and offered to conduct them over his yacht and to take them out for a sail. Their mother, however, gave her consent, with the result that before the trip was over the younger had fully decided to become a sailor.

It is said that Prince Henry holds the unique distinction of being the only man—royalist or commoner—who is insured against assassination. He has an insurance of a sum approaching $10,000,000 against being killed by the hand of an assassin. Some years ago, when the prince took command of the German fleet in Chinese waters, this policy was taken out. The risk is believed to be held solely by German companies. An ardent student, his imperial highness' passion in this respect is exemplified by the following story: While out driving with a friend one day he noticed ahead of them a slow moving goods van, the driver of which appeared absolutely regardless of the approach of the motor car. Presently the prince's car sped past. "You fatted!" exclaimed the man, "you might as well have asked me to make room for you." The prince immediately alighted his horse and the car came to a standstill. After a moment's discussion his companion returned to the complacent van driver and inquired: "Did you mean his royal highness to be a fatted?" "But," stammered the other, "I didn't know."

"The royal highness is a man of that," said the prince's companion. "Take this," he added, handing him a gold coin, "as a present from his royal highness, because you are the first man who has called him a fatted!"

Climate Affected by Deforestation.

That the stripping of trees from a country has a bad effect on the climate is indicated by the following account by a traveler in the interior of China: "Kauai is the poorest of all the provinces of China and the most inaccessible by reason of its defective communications. Devastated by the human-made incursions in the years from 1861 to 1878 it has now become a barren waste, the result of which was then subjected. The ruins everywhere of what were once thriving towns and villages impress the traveler with a sense of the horror of the destruction in China. Incursions meant extermination of the vanquished—no quarter to old or young, to man or woman. Loss of life during the great incursions amounted to millions, and even in the short interval of 1895 the destruction of life was appalling. The province now needs repopulating, but in the absence of communications the work is difficult. It is a treeless province. There has been universal destruction of timber. Even the fine avenue of willows and poplars planted by the Tung-ching between the two capitals is fast disappearing. Deforestation is profoundly affecting the climate. When rain falls it falls with such violence that it smashes the face of the country, which is everywhere covered with soft loess (clay) of varying thickness, with no vegetation to bind the soil to gether."

America's Wine to the Rescue.

If there is one thing more than another that Europe prides and plumes herself upon and crowns herself about to prove her undoubted superiority to America in land, blood and brain, that thing is surely wine. Every European regards his wine and his wine vine as a sure sign from heaven that Europe is the world's first and true man's land. In America is a lush land and inhospitable, where the grape can never, never mellow into the true bliss of a perfect wine. American grape vines are the envy of the wine industry of this whole world, and without them Morgan or Rothschild or King William for all the world's power and wealth could not take one sip of champagne, Johannisberger, Tokay or Liebfraumilch, and be assured of having it from year to year.—New York Press.

Purified by Trial.

He that can approach and consider vice with all her baits and seeming pleasures, and yet abstain and yet distinguish and yet prefer that which is truly better, he cannot praise a fugitive and cloistered virtue, unexercised and unbreathed, that never sallies out and sees her adversary, but slinks out of the race, where that immortal girdle is to be run for, not without dust and heat. Assuredly we bring not innocence into the world, we bring impurity much rather; that which purifies us is trial, and trial is by what is contrary.—Milton.

The Chorus Girl.

Antonette Burton contributes to Harper's Weekly an account of her investigation of the chorus girl. "It takes all sorts of girls to make a chorus," says one whom she interviewed. "You have girls from 'most every state of the Union and from nearly every country of the globe. You have pretty girls and scholarly girls, and you have girls who are fond of autos and champagne, girls who are druggists and never go out. The average chorus girl is a hard worker—she has to be—and she is, as a rule, a good girl, although she may be careless in her speech and enjoy a good time."

Oronogo, Mo.—"I was simply a nervous wreck. I could not walk across the floor without my heart fluttering and I could not even receive a letter. Every month I had such a bearing down sensation, as if the lower parts would fall out. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done my nerves a great deal of good and has relieved me of all my troubles. I am now a healthy woman and I am able to do my share of the housework. I am now a healthy woman and I am able to do my share of the housework. I am now a healthy woman and I am able to do my share of the housework."

Another Grateful Woman. "I was bothered terribly with a female weakness and had backache, bearing down pains and pains in lower parts. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly and used the Santal Wash and now I have no more troubles that way."—Mrs. A. J. Mazon, 2722 Prescott Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

The Stomach Hold.

Col. H. N. Remont, at the "Old Guard" banquet at Delmonico's, emphasized the importance to an army of a good commissaryman. "You have perhaps heard," he said, "of the company of privates that a patriotic lady entertained one Memorial day to dinner. 'It was a good dinner, and at its end a pretty maid servant entered with a superb dessert. 'Desert, desert!' she said to the stalwart young soldier at the head of the table. 'Desert!' the sergeant answered. 'When I can get cats like this for robbin'! Nixol! Not me!'

Old Advice.

Manager—You never get this scene right. Your business with the sweet peas is all wrong and you forget when you are to speak you get your laces all mixed up.

Actress—All right, sir, I'll be more attentive and fix the sweet peas and try to get my lines in the right place.

Manager—Your course is very simple. Just mind your peas and cues—Haltmore American.

IN THE ANTE-BELLUM DAYS

Supply of Ready Money a Matter of Indifference to Rich and Poor Alike.

According to George Cary Eggleston, Virginians of ante-bellum days showed great indifference in money matters. Money in the form of coin was rarely seen, the planters were in the habit of writing checks on a slip of foolscap, instructing the bank to

"please" pay the amount specified. Eggleston says: "This custom of paying by check so strongly commended itself to a certain unworried person of my time that he reported on it on one occasion in entire ignorance and innocence of the necessity of having a bank deposit as a preliminary to the drawing of checks. He went to Richmond and bought a year's supplies for his little place—it was too small to be called a plantation—and for each purchase he drew a particularly polite check. When the banks threw these out on the ground that their author had no account the poor old person found the situation a difficult one to understand. He had thought that the very purpose of a bank's being was to cash checks for persons who happened to be short of money. 'Why, if I had the money in the bank,' he explained, 'I shouldn't have written the checks at all, I should have got the money and paid the bills.' Fortunately he carried two new grips and two umbrellas over his arm. She carries nothing but a box of

Magnet for Unloading Pig Iron. Pig iron is pretty heavy stuff and it takes a lot of tedious, back-aching labor to unload a car of it in the old way, by hand. The modern method is by the use of the electro-magnet attached to a crane, which will pick up a ton of the heavy pieces as easily as a man could one.

It is said that the ordinary cost of handling a ton of pig iron by hand labor is from five to eight cents, depending upon the "carry." The lifting magnet will do the work for half a cent per ton and isn't half as apt to go on a strike.

When current is turned on the magnet literally grabs a mouthful of the iron chunks. The instant the current is switched off the magnetism departs and the magnet drops its load of the heavy pieces as easily as a man could one.

Economic forces are at work today in the country, and particularly in the arid west, which are gradually but surely shaping out agricultural development along new lines. In many parts of the irrigated country agriculture now occupies a position of greater dignity among the vocations than ever before. Its place among the scientific professions is now recognized and it is calling more strongly every day for the best talent and brains the nation affords.

In 1903 less than $1,000,000. In 1904 they were $2,500,000; in 1905, $5,000,000; in 1906, a little less than $10,000,000; in 1907, nearly $14,000,000. Then the expenditures decreased to $10,000,000 in 1908, to about $9,000,000 in 1909, and in 1910 they will be a little under $8,000,000. It is expected that in 1911 they will shrink to about $7,000,000, which sum will probably continue to be available during after years, assuming that the water-right charges are paid as they fall due.

Total moneys received and transferred to the reclamation fund from sales of public lands under reclamation act to February 29, 1910: $68,342,617.02. Approximately $4,500,000 are still in the treasury of the United States, but not yet available.

Team

It is a matter of regret, a writer says, that Spencer prefaced his scientific philosophy of the Cosmos with his famous theory of the unknowable. In the recognition of an unknown power inscrutable to the human intellect Spencer fancied he had found the basis of reconciliation between science and religion. Science was to take as its province the known, and religion the province of the unknowable. The proposed terms resembled those of a husband with his wife as this basis of domestic harmony, that he should take the inside of the house and she the outside. Had Spencer been in closer touch with the religious sentiment he would have recognized that such a theory of reconciliation would simply distract public attention from his attempt to apply the key of evolution to the secrets of the material universe. In this later days he felt that his system had been prejudiced by his theory of the unknowable, and in conversation he used to emphasize the view that his philosophy of the Cosmos was quite distinct from his ontological opinions, and should be judged on its own merits. Making due allowance for defects arising out of the personal equation, the fact remains that Herbert Spencer was one of the great creative intellects of the nineteenth century. In many particulars his generalizations will be modified by advancing knowledge, but this at least must be claimed for him that he laid broad and deep the foundations of the theory of evolution. Among the sceptered immortals Herbert Spencer holds high rank.
